4th International Ensemble en Soloist Contest 2011

for young musical talent

PERCUSSION

Concert and 1st Division

Composition:
Stichting WMC Kerkrade
Stichting Muziekschool Kerkrade
Kerkrade, November 2010

1. Introduction

In the last 50 years WMC has built its reputation as an international stage for wind music as well as percussion music. Its core business consists of the four-yearly World Music Contest for amateur woodwind bands, percussion ensembles, marching and show bands. This is now considered the major international festival for the wind music and percussion sector in the world.

“International Ensemble and Soloist Contest 2011 for Young Talent”

In wind music as well as in percussion music, WMC performs an important function in renewal. Within the several contest formats it has implemented a number of radical changes. From this angle the first International Music School Contest took place. Several successful editions later this contest had developed into the first edition of the International Ensemble and Soloist Contest in 2004, in cooperation with Stichting Muziekschool Kerkrade. For several times this event has taken place with success. In October of 2011 this contest will be organized for the fourth time.

In order to inform and prepare participants in the best possible way a contest manual per discipline has been produced. Herewith WMC wants to stress once more, that its contests take place in the utmost openness. There is a contest manual available for each contest format.

Objective:

WMC aims to provide an international stage for young musical talent (top and / or amateur section and recently graduated students at a school of music).

Target group:

Harmony and Fanfare sector: wind music, percussion music. Soloists and ensembles (1st and concert division).

Adjudication::

For every category a separate jury team has been appointed. The adjudication for soloist and ensembles is based on two systems:

- Adjudication in grades for the 1st division (list of grades and written report).
- Ranking system for the concert division (determination of the 1st, 2nd and 3rd place; written report only).
